Team collaboration made easy

Cape Town, South Africa - Cape Town based ydangle apps today announced a new app for iOS called Team Weaver.

The app allows users to share documents and notes, track time and manage tasks without needing to sign up to a service. It is all done by simply sharing a link.

It is the ability to connect users by simply sharing a link that makes Team Weaver unique. This means there is no need to create accounts and remember user names and passwords.

The other invisible feature of the app is that not only does it use a backend server to synchronise data but also peer to peer connections to synchronise data offline.

Using the app, teams can easily share documents, create notes that can be edited by all in real time, track time spent on projects and manage the team's job jar.

All activity is displayed on a timeline making it easy to keep track across projects and teams.

The app is currently aimed at environments where groups or teams using iOS devices need to share information and track activities. Teams in companies, school groups, committees and professionals needing to share information with clients (such as web and app developers, architects, lawyers, etc) will all find the app useful.

The app has been designed in such a way that it can be customised for companies specific needs.

Team Weaver is currently only available for iOS (Apple mobile devices) and sells on the app store for $5.99. An Android version is planned.
